To Whom It May Concern,

This letter has been written as a formal protest to the proposed New England Transrail site on the Olin Chemical property in neighboring Wilmington. I have lived in North Woburn my entire life which is 52 years right now. I have seen problems that have plagued the city for many years which have been the result of several different dumping operations in years past. These operations have resulted in illnesses such as cancer and leukemia. I also own a business that borders the Olin property, I can literally look out my window and see it. I, and my family, are totally opposed to any such operation being conducted in this area and would like to go on record as such. This operation probably doesn't belong anywhere but I'm sure it has to happen somewhere, all we ask is to please follow your conscience and not let anymore poisonous pollution and misery fall upon our neighborhood and homes. I ask you, would you want it in your town?

Sincerely,

Paul & Cynthia Spinazola
